

Paul Dwyer Pleads Guilty, Is Sentenced

(Continued from Page 1)

MacDonald emerged from the judge's chamber and held a whispered conference with him. At one point MacDonald strode to the spectators' section and, standing before Mrs. Jessie Dwyer, the defendant's widowed mother, and the Rev. James H. Burns, Baptist pastor of Hebron, shrugged his shoulders in a gesture of despair. Shortly afterward the mother went forward to a seat beside her son, but talked only briefly with him before returning.

Judge Quizzes Accused
Judge Emery then emerged from his chamber and convened court. "The respondent at the bar," he said, reading from a paper, "has conferred with his counsel and now desires to express his wish to retract his plea of not guilty and plead guilty."

Dwyer rose, folded his arms, and stared straight ahead at the judge. "I am now informed, Mr. Dwyer," the judge resumed, "that you have consulted with your attorneys and that you desire now to retract your plea of not guilty and plead guilty."

"Yes, sir," Dwyer replied in a low voice. "Do you understand this?" "Yes, sir."

"And you did it without any fear and of your own free will?" "Yes, sir."

No Reservations
"Will you do so without any reservations and evasions, and freely?" the judge asked.

"Yes, sir," Dwyer said. "Do you understand the penalty?" "Yes, sir."

Judge Emery then read the indictment, charging the boy with throttling and hammering the doctor to death on October 13.

"At the time of your arraignment you pleaded not guilty?" "Yes, sir."

"How do you plead today?" Dwyer took a deep breath, then, in a voice barely audible, answered: "Guilty."

Dwyer then heard himself sentenced to state prison for the rest of his life.

Immediately he was taken to nearby Oxford County Jail to await transfer to Thomaston State Prison.

Hit Him With Fist
"I hit him with my fist," the confession read, "and he fell, his head hitting the bathtub. He fought me and I strangled him with both hands. . . . I put a belt around his neck and choked him. Then I hit him with a hammer, three times. I think he died."

According to the confession, Dwyer then stuffed the doctor's body in the trunk of the latter's automobile and drove to the Littlefield home, where he told Mrs. Littlefield that the doctor had been involved in a hit-run automobile fatality and had fled to Boston.

Mrs. Littlefield joined Dwyer. After driving through Maine, Massachusetts and New Hampshire for two days, Dwyer allegedly confessed, he strangled Mrs. Littlefield because he feared she would discover the first crime. Dwyer was

MAYOR HAYES IS VERY CONFIDENT

(Continued from Page 1)

$177.00. This will be an undoubtedly difficult task, since virtually every city department has received increased appropriations for next year over this year. Requested appropriations for next year are said to be about $300,000 more than this year's total actual appropriations.

As is customary, the school department will receive the largest 1938 appropriation. This year, the sum of $1,800,000 was allocated for this department and next year's will be approximately the same it is understood.

Unconfirmed reports had it that the street department would suffer most in the slicing of appropriations for next year. Work of this department will be greatly curtailed it is said.

Budget figures suggested by Mayor Hayes are expected to show what departments will be most affected by his plan for reorganization of the city government.

(Continued from Page 1)

EXPERT RIDER
Jeanette MacDonald, expert equestrienne who always has ridden side saddle, rides her own western pony, White Lady, in "The Girl of the Golden West." Attired in boots and blue denim, she took western trick riding lessons for many weeks before starting her role.

MacDonald emerged from the judge's chamber and held a whispered conference with him. At one point MacDonald strode to the spectators' section and, standing before Mrs. Jessie Dwyer, the defendant's widowed mother, and the Rev. James H. Burns, Baptist pastor of Hebron, shrugged his shoulders in a gesture of despair. Shortly afterward the mother went forward to a seat beside her son, but talked only briefly with him before returning.

Judge Emery then emerged from his chamber and convened court. "The respondent at the bar," he said, reading from a paper, "has conferred with his counsel and now desires to express his wish to retract his plea of not guilty and plead guilty."

Dwyer rose, folded his arms, and stared straight ahead at the judge. "I am now informed, Mr. Dwyer," the judge resumed, "that you have consulted with your attorneys and that you desire now to retract your plea of not guilty and plead guilty."

"Yes, sir," Dwyer replied in a low voice. "Do you understand this?" "Yes, sir."

"And you did it without any fear and of your own free will?" "Yes, sir."

No Reservations
"Will you do so without any reservations and evasions, and freely?" the judge asked.

"Yes, sir," Dwyer said. "Do you understand the penalty?" "Yes, sir."

Judge Emery then read the indictment, charging the boy with throttling and hammering the doctor to death on October 13.

"At the time of your arraignment you pleaded not guilty?" "Yes, sir."

"How do you plead today?" Dwyer took a deep breath, then, in a voice barely audible, answered: "Guilty."

Dwyer then heard himself sentenced to state prison for the rest of his life.

Immediately he was taken to nearby Oxford County Jail to await transfer to Thomaston State Prison.

Hit Him With Fist
"I hit him with my fist," the confession read, "and he fell, his head hitting the bathtub. He fought me and I strangled him with both hands. . . . I put a belt around his neck and choked him. Then I hit him with a hammer, three times. I think he died."

According to the confession, Dwyer then stuffed the doctor's body in the trunk of the latter's automobile and drove to the Littlefield home, where he told Mrs. Littlefield that the doctor had been involved in a hit-run automobile fatality and had fled to Boston.

Mrs. Littlefield joined Dwyer. After driving through Maine, Massachusetts and New Hampshire for two days, Dwyer allegedly confessed, he strangled Mrs. Littlefield because he feared she would discover the first crime. Dwyer was

MacDonald emerged from the judge's chamber and held a whispered conference with him. At one point MacDonald strode to the spectators' section and, standing before Mrs. Jessie Dwyer, the defendant's widowed mother, and the Rev. James H. Burns, Baptist pastor of Hebron, shrugged his shoulders in a gesture of despair. Shortly afterward the mother went forward to a seat beside her son, but talked only briefly with him before returning.

Judge Emery then emerged from his chamber and convened court. "The respondent at the bar," he said, reading from a paper, "has conferred with his counsel and now desires to express his wish to retract his plea of not guilty and plead guilty."

Dwyer rose, folded his arms, and stared straight ahead at the judge. "I am now informed, Mr. Dwyer," the judge resumed, "that you have consulted with your attorneys and that you desire now to retract your plea of not guilty and plead guilty."

"Yes, sir," Dwyer replied in a low voice. "Do you understand this?" "Yes, sir."

"And you did it without any fear and of your own free will?" "Yes, sir."

No Reservations
"Will you do so without any reservations and evasions, and freely?" the judge asked.

"Yes, sir," Dwyer said. "Do you understand the penalty?" "Yes, sir."

Judge Emery then read the indictment, charging the boy with throttling and hammering the doctor to death on October 13.

"At the time of your arraignment you pleaded not guilty?" "Yes, sir."

"How do you plead today?" Dwyer took a deep breath, then, in a voice barely audible, answered: "Guilty."

Dwyer then heard himself sentenced to state prison for the rest of his life.

Immediately he was taken to nearby Oxford County Jail to await transfer to Thomaston State Prison.

Hit Him With Fist
"I hit him with my fist," the confession read, "and he fell, his head hitting the bathtub. He fought me and I strangled him with both hands. . . . I put a belt around his neck and choked him. Then I hit him with a hammer, three times. I think he died."

According to the confession, Dwyer then stuffed the doctor's body in the trunk of the latter's automobile and drove to the Littlefield home, where he told Mrs. Littlefield that the doctor had been involved in a hit-run automobile fatality and had fled to Boston.

Mrs. Littlefield joined Dwyer. After driving through Maine, Massachusetts and New Hampshire for two days, Dwyer allegedly confessed, he strangled Mrs. Littlefield because he feared she would discover the first crime. Dwyer was

Two Girls Shot By Irate Shopkeeper

(Acme Telephoto)

Sue Stokes, (becked dress), was fatally shot through the heart, and Mary Coleman, wounded in the hip when Michael Ritter, Newport News, Va., shopkeeper, allegedly shot them for chalk-marking his sidewalk. Police announced that the 77-year-old storekeeper, admitted firing the shots. The Coleman girl is not seriously hurt.

Southbury Bund Is Again In Limelight

(Continued from Page 1)

town camp but that uniformed guards would be in attendance. Representative Citron is quoted as follows:

"Months ago, when these camps were being planned and set up in various sections of our country, it was requested by the department of justice to investigate the possible violation of federal laws. At that time, it was divulged on the floor of congress that there were several units in Connecticut of the German-American Bund, a Nazi organization composed mainly of aliens, whose teachings are aimed at the destruction of our democratic institutions and fomenting ill-will and discord among our people."

Although the Connecticut congressman writes that this was "months ago," his letter, dated Nov. 30, contains:

No Place In America
"Nazism of course has no place in our country, since its objectives strike at the very fundamentals of our national ideals. It is my belief that the movement is well-financed by the foreign relations propaganda section of the present German government, under the direction of Herr Goebbels. This, of course, is a difficult matter to prove, and present-day governments are too clever to be caught red-handed."

Thus the Connecticut representative and Herr Goebbels, the Nazi American Bund chapter at New Haven, are at odds over what constitutes qualification for membership in the Bund: aliens or citizens and those seeking citizenship.

Meriden Is In It
From Meriden is reported drawing of resolutions condemning the Southbury camp at a meeting of the American Legion and the State Fair committee of New Haven is reported to have petitioned Governor Cross to prevent establishment of "pro-Nazi camps in the state."

The complete letter of Rep. Citron is as follows:

Honorable Wilbur L. Cross, Governor of the State of Connecticut, Executive Chambers, Hartford, Connecticut.

My dear Governor Cross:

I have just received a copy of the commendable resolution drafted by the citizens of Southbury, Connecticut, with regard to the establishment of a Nazi camp at Southbury.

Months ago, when these camps were being planned and set up in the various sections of our country, I requested the department of justice to investigate the possible violation of federal laws. At that time, it was divulged on the floor of congress that there were several units in Connecticut of the German-American Bund, a Nazi organization composed mainly of aliens, whose teachings are aimed at the destruction of our democratic institutions and fomenting ill-will and discord among our people.

Nazism of course has no place in our country, since its objectives strike at the very fundamentals of our national ideals. It is my belief that the movement is well-financed by the foreign relations propaganda section of the present German government, under the direction of Herr Goebbels. This, of course, is a difficult matter to prove, and present-day governments are too clever to be caught red-handed."

Thus the Connecticut representative and Herr Goebbels, the Nazi American Bund chapter at New Haven, are at odds over what constitutes qualification for membership in the Bund: aliens or citizens and those seeking citizenship.

Meriden Is In It
From Meriden is reported drawing of resolutions condemning the Southbury camp at a meeting of the American Legion and the State Fair committee of New Haven is reported to have petitioned Governor Cross to prevent establishment of "pro-Nazi camps in the state."

The complete letter of Rep. Citron is as follows:

Honorable Wilbur L. Cross, Governor of the State of Connecticut, Executive Chambers, Hartford, Connecticut.

My dear Governor Cross:

I have just received a copy of the commendable resolution drafted by the citizens of Southbury, Connecticut, with regard to the establishment of a Nazi camp at Southbury.

Months ago, when these camps were being planned and set up in the various sections of our country, I requested the department of justice to investigate the possible violation of federal laws. At that time, it was divulged on the floor of congress that there were several units in Connecticut of the German-American Bund, a Nazi organization composed mainly of aliens, whose teachings are aimed at the destruction of our democratic institutions and fomenting ill-will and discord among our people.

Nazism of course has no place in our country, since its objectives strike at the very fundamentals of our national ideals. It is my belief that the movement is well-financed by the foreign relations propaganda section of the present German government, under the direction of Herr Goebbels. This, of course, is a difficult matter to prove, and present-day governments are too clever to be caught red-handed."

Thus the Connecticut representative and Herr Goebbels, the Nazi American Bund chapter at New Haven, are at odds over what constitutes qualification for membership in the Bund: aliens or citizens and those seeking citizenship.

Meriden Is In It
From Meriden is reported drawing of resolutions condemning the Southbury camp at a meeting of the American Legion and the State Fair committee of New Haven is reported to have petitioned Governor Cross to prevent establishment of "pro-Nazi camps in the state."

The complete letter of Rep. Citron is as follows:

Honorable Wilbur L. Cross, Governor of the State of Connecticut, Executive Chambers, Hartford, Connecticut.

My dear Governor Cross:

I have just received a copy of the commendable resolution drafted by the citizens of Southbury, Connecticut, with regard to the establishment of a Nazi camp at Southbury.

Months ago, when these camps were being planned and set up in the various sections of our country, I requested the department of justice to investigate the possible violation of federal laws. At that time, it was divulged on the floor of congress that there were several units in Connecticut of the German-American Bund, a Nazi organization composed mainly of aliens, whose teachings are aimed at the destruction of our democratic institutions and fomenting ill-will and discord among our people.

Nazism of course has no place in our country, since its objectives strike at the very fundamentals of our national ideals. It is my belief that the movement is well-financed by the foreign relations propaganda section of the present German government, under the direction of Herr Goebbels. This, of course, is a difficult matter to prove, and present-day governments are too clever to be caught red-handed."

Thus the Connecticut representative and Herr Goebbels, the Nazi American Bund chapter at New Haven, are at odds over what constitutes qualification for membership in the Bund: aliens or citizens and those seeking citizenship.

Meriden Is In It
From Meriden is reported drawing of resolutions condemning the Southbury camp at a meeting of the American Legion and the State Fair committee of New Haven is reported to have petitioned Governor Cross to prevent establishment of "pro-Nazi camps in the state."

The complete letter of Rep. Citron is as follows:

Honorable Wilbur L. Cross, Governor of the State of Connecticut, Executive Chambers, Hartford, Connecticut.

My dear Governor Cross:

I have just received a copy of the commendable resolution drafted by the citizens of Southbury, Connecticut, with regard to the establishment of a Nazi camp at Southbury.

Months ago, when these camps were being planned and set up in the various sections of our country, I requested the department of justice to investigate the possible violation of federal laws. At that time, it was divulged on the floor of congress that there were several units in Connecticut of the German-American Bund, a Nazi organization composed mainly of aliens, whose teachings are aimed at the destruction of our democratic institutions and fomenting ill-will and discord among our people.

Nazism of course has no place in our country, since its objectives strike at the very fundamentals of our national ideals. It is my belief that the movement is well-financed by the foreign relations propaganda section of the present German government, under the direction of Herr Goebbels. This, of course, is a difficult matter to prove, and present-day governments are too clever to be caught red-handed."

Thus the Connecticut representative and Herr Goebbels, the Nazi American Bund chapter at New Haven, are at odds over what constitutes qualification for membership in the Bund: aliens or citizens and those seeking citizenship.

VICE CRUSADERS CONTINUE RAIDS

Liquid Evidence, Allegedly Seized in Brooklyn Restaurants—Owners Held

Continuing their drive against violations of the state liquor laws, Detective Lieutenants Patrick Moylan and Fred Hickey of the vice squad raided two Brooklyn "joints" this morning and arrested the alleged operators. They will be arraigned in city court tomorrow.

John Melnik, 37, operator of a restaurant at 685 Riverside street, was arrested on charges of selling liquor without a permit. About five ounces of liquor in a quart bottle, were confiscated by the vice agents.

Another restaurant owner, Andrew T. Mahary, 47, of 787 Bank street, was also arrested for selling liquor without a permit. Lieut. Hickey and Moylan confiscated in his establishment, three quarts of moonshine; one pint of gin and a case of beer.

FLOOD DAMAGE SUITS APPEAR

(Continued from Page 1)

Thoms; and by Judge Dickenson. Sidney S. Platt arrives in Southbury this morning.

Arrive State Representative Sidney S. Platt of Southbury. The Southbury legislator was called for jury duty a few days ago and was disqualified because the case was that of a tenant seeking damages from the establishment of the Waterbury Savings bank, also known as the Dime Savings bank, whose depositors are stockholders.

Representative Platt, passed as a juror, confided in Judge Dickenson that he was a depositor in the "Dime Savings bank." He was excused.

Mr. Platt was questioned about his personal knowledge of the defendant company, of the plaintiffs. Attorneys for the defense passed him.

Then Mr. Upson started his questioning. "You don't know the plaintiffs? You don't know the attorneys in the case?"

A long list of questions followed, some regarding his knowledge of the flood. To all of which Mr. Platt responded in a negative.

"You aren't a stockholder in the Connecticut Light and Power company?" asked Mr. Upson.

Yes, He Was
"Why, yes, I am," responded Mr. Platt, albeit with diffidence.

As on the former occasion of Mr. Platt's testimony in a personal hearing of property, the judge smiled, the jury so far chosen, cackled, the lawyer laughed.

Mr. Platt grinned and was excused.

A Mr. George Coleman, of Derby, was called to the stand as a witness to the flood.

"You're not a stockholder in the Connecticut Light and Power company?" asked Mr. Upson.

"No, I wish I were," was the response.

Once again, mirth took over in the court.

POPE PIUS WILL PLEA FOR PEACE

Vatican City, Dec. 2.—(UP)—Pope Pius will plead for peace in Palestine during the secret consistory of the sacred college of cardinals on December 13, a Vatican source reported today.

The pontiff was expected to express his regret for the bloodshed and violence in the Holy Land and to urge a prompt return of peaceful conditions in respect for religious areas.

The pope was expected to make a similar plea in a speech on Christmas Eve in answer to the customary Christmas greetings of the college of cardinals. It was emphasized, however, that the holy father would not take sides in the dispute between the British royal commission's report urging a partitioning into separate Jewish and Arab states with a British-controlled corridor in between them.

RUSSIA SENDS MUNITIONS
Hankow, China, Dec. 2.—(UP)—The Chinese armies are receiving war material from Russia, Soviet Russian officials asserted today.

Russia has been shipping arms and munitions to China by airplane by way of Chinese Turkestan, it was said.

The Russian sources in this temporary capital of the Chinese government, asserted that supplies could be shipped from Russia to China with comparative ease. They said it took only 48 hours for Russian military planes to fly from Moscow to Hankow.

A Japanese naval spokesman in Shanghai asserted today that six Japanese pursuit ships had shot down 10 of 30 Chinese Russian-made planes in an air battle over Hankow. The Japanese also bombed three Soviet-made tri-motored planes as they attempted to take off from the government airport there, he added.

AIRCRAFT HELP TO GET BUSINESSES

Hartford, Conn., Dec. 2.—(UP)—Bonuses amounting to $38,000 will be paid 6000 employees of the United Aircraft Corporation, December 15, according to an announcement today by President Donald L. Brown.

Those who had been on the payroll for less than five years prior to November 1 will receive $5 each and $10 will be given each employee who has been with the company more than five years.

The concerns affected are the Pratt and Whitney Aircraft, Hamilton Standard Propellers, Chance Vought, United Aircraft, United Aircraft Export Corporation, and Sikorsky Aircraft Corp.

FIRST WOMAN IN CABINET
Belfast, Dec. 2.—(UP)—Mrs. Debra Parker became the first woman cabinet member in North Ireland today upon her appointment as parliamentary secretary to the minister of education.

Paris will hold a household show.

INVITED

MRS. TERESA CROOK

In recognition of her voluntary efforts as well as in appreciation of her cooperative spirit an invitation has been extended to Mrs. Teresa Crook of this city to attend a meeting of the officials of the Connecticut Home for Crippled Children at Newington next Monday afternoon.

Mrs. Crook is associated with the State Labor Department as homework investigator. In the discharge of her official duties Mrs. Crook has accidentally discovered a number of cases of crippled children sadly in need of medical and corrective care. She brought several cases to the attention of the Connecticut Home with the result that guarantee of care was immediately taken in charge. One of the unfortunate lots, a victim of infantile paralysis at an early age, is responding very encouragingly to treatment. She has recovered partially the use of her arms and is showing progress in her efforts to walk again. The child's home is in this city.

Mrs. Crook announced today that she has accepted the invitation to attend the meeting, feeling that opportunities to aid young persons as well as the home may be available in the near future.

GREYHOUND BUS STRIKE IS OVER

(Continued from Page 1)

with excellent records. $15 a Month Raise
Conner announced that average increases of $15 per month per man would be made when the contract becomes effective. Drivers now receive between $180 and $250 per month. The demand for the 300 miles a day guarantee was rejected.

Other company wage concessions, Conner said, included a guarantee to drivers of an $80 a month minimum, instead of $65. Drivers will be paid at the rate of one-half the regular mileage scale for "dead-heading"—riding back to a station point on another driver's run.

Scattered Violence
There were scattered instances of violence during the strike, which extended over a broad area from St. Louis, Mo., to Portland, Me. Service was curtailed in most sections, and suspended between New York and Philadelphia and for a time between New York and Boston.

McCook announced that the companies agreed to dismiss damage suits totaling $6,300,000, which had been filed against the brotherhood alleging injury by the strike.

New England Busses Move
Boston, Dec. 2.—(UP)—Greyhound busses moved on schedule throughout New England today after a riot in the closing hours of the drivers' strike yesterday. Seven persons were arrested and five others hospitalized as result of the clash in West Roxbury between strike-breakers, guards and strike sympathizers for possession of an outboard bus. Baseball bats and other clubs were used freely.

Those hospitalized were Curtis Searies, 38, 350 Main street, Brockton; Michael Ryfun, 30, 218 Magnolia street, Syracuse, N. Y.; Sydney E. Zang, 33, 33, Mitchell street, Portland, Me.; Roy C. Pine, 42, Francis D. Lise, 26, and Elliott P. Price, 17, all of Boston.

Those held for questioning were Leslie A. Waters, 25, 305 Laurel street, Hartford, Conn.; John T. Clancy, 24, 11 Marble street, Springfield; Alexander McNeil, 46, Lynn street, Bangor, Me.; and Mitchell E. Zang, 33, 33, Mitchell street, Portland, Me.; Roy C. Pine, 42, Francis D. Lise, 26, and Elliott P. Price, 17, all of Boston.

Minor Fields
The federation also would agree to similar disposition of certain minor fields such as newspaper editorial work and a compromise in maritime, transportation and electrical fields.

Lewis will stand pat on his previous position.

Swapped Everything
He quoted Dies as saying: "They have swapped everything today but the capitol. They have traded and promised members everything to get them on that petition. They even told the Florida delegation they would get the Florida ship canal, I heard, if they signed. They promised so much there won't be anything left for the federal government."

He quoted press reports as saying: "Charges the house farm bill was being made a purely log-rolling proposition" to get signatures on the wages-hours petition were openly made in the House by Representative A. Willis Robertson, Democrat of Virginia. He spoke of efforts to "trade support for the farm measure in return for support for the wages-and-hour measure." "Reprisals are openly threatened," said Robertson. "If southern members who conscientiously believe that the pending wages-and-hour bill is fundamentally unsound and inherently unworkable do not promptly march to the clerk's desk and sign the petition to bring up the wages-and-hour measure."

Answers: 1. It is extremely doubtful, although persons had teeth of a supposed third set. However, little credence is given such instances. Sometimes teeth emerge in later life which are only the second or permanent teeth, delayed in making their appearance because of some obstructive condition in the jaw.

2. The first human being ever to suffer the Raccoon vaccination against rabies. He was 9 years old at the time. Pasteur hesitated to administer the innocuous vaccine since it had never before been given to a human being. He was finally persuaded to do so, the boy was saved from death by rabies, and the "miracle" of the Pasteur treatment was established.

3. No. As a matter of fact, the acid fluids by their running action on milk are positive aids to digestion.

Grieve, Bisset & Holland, Inc.

"Waterbury's Dependable Gift Store"

Store Open Until 9 P. M. Thursday and Saturday

VISIT OUR NEW BOYS' DEPARTMENT

From now on you can get your furnishings for boys 8 to 18 years right here in this department, devoted exclusively to their special needs. We've timed this event to give you ample opportunity to rightly answer the great gift question.

What Shall We Give the Boys?

Boys' Corduroy Mackinaws
Good sturdy quality, wool lined and zipper front. Sizes 12, 14 and 16. Without Pans. Prices $3.95 and $4.95. With Pans. Price $5.95.

Boys' Mackinaws
Navy blue. Dressy looking, double breasted, all wool. Sizes 10 to 18 years. Prices $3.25 and $5.95. Single