

Allegiance To Alien Nations Is Scored By Legion

Ocean City, N. J., Sept. 11.—A resolution opposing the establishment of camps, organizations and societies which aim to "encourage and instill allegiance to foreign powers and governments" was adopted here today at the State Convention of the American Legion.

The action was taken following an address by Louis Freeman, Commander of the New Jersey Jewish War Veterans, in which he described certain camps operated by German societies in this State and elsewhere as "hotbeds of Nazi propaganda."

Mr. Freeman appealed to the legionnaires to support efforts of the Jewish veterans to suppress what he termed "Nazi activity" in the United States. He said agents of the Nazi Government were active in this country and urged that the Federal Government take steps to halt the propaganda.

Mr. Freeman said youths were being taught to goose-step and salute the swastika at Camp Norland, near Andover, N. J., and this camp displayed a large photograph of Hitler, but a photograph of President Roosevelt was "conspicuously absent." He charged further that no language except German could be spoken in the camp and the residents had to swear allegiance to the Nazi emblem.

He went on to charge that the Nazi government had sent large numbers of paid agents to the United States for the purpose of organizing the youth and building up a Nazi party. He maintained Fritz Kuhn, head of the German-American Bund, of which Camp Norland is a unit, as one of the agents.

The resolution, adopted unanimously and without discussion, was as follows:

"Whereas, the American Legion believes in 100 per cent Americanism and whereas the American Legion's aims are to foster and perpetrate such Americanism, be it resolved by the American Legion, Department of New Jersey, that it opposes the establishment of camps, organizations and societies whose aims are to encourage and instill allegiance to foreign powers and governments."

Louis Johnson, Assistant Secretary of War, also was a speaker. He reiterated a statement made in previous addresses that this country's minimum needs are 14,000 officers and 165,000 enlisted men, adding that with the additions the United States would still rank below all first-rate powers.
